THE 21ST – CENTURY HIGH STREET

| THE ST CENTERY MONEYARDS |
|--|
| It wasn't very long ago when shoppers bought their holidays from travel agents and their music CDs and video games from entertainment stores. And if they wanted to watch a film in the evening, they could easily pop into a video or DVD rental shop. But in the 21 st century we have seen some of the biggest changes in the way we do our shopping for about a |
| hundred years. (68) |
| The first thing you notice is the large number of cafés that have opened in the last few years. It seems that you are never more than a few metres from a coffee machine these days. (69) In one of the city's most popular areas there are now at least 20 different places offering a haircut. (70) This would suggest that the men in Oxford have become much more interested in their haircut in the last few years. But where do people go shopping? (71) These are small supermarkets where you can quickly purchase a few things for dinner on your way from work. There are still chemists' on every street for when you feel ill, and there are plenty of places where you can buy a mobile phone or takeaway meal. But what you notice is that most of the entertainment stores |
| have gone, and there are very few newsagent's and hardly any travel agents. (72) Everything else is just a mouse-click away. |
| erick amay. |

- A. As well as cafés, it's amazing to see the number of hairdresser shops.
- B. Five years ago most of these businesses didn't exist.
- C. There are a couple of butcher shops and one or two bakeries.
- D. So it seems that in Britain, the shops people use are those that you physically need to visit.
- E. Let's take a walk through the city centre of Oxford to see how things have changed.
- F. Well, there are a lot more convenience stores.
